

Today is the final day of our second week of action relating to the Alliance Against Violence.

During this week Chief Inspector Ted Antill, the force lead for hate crime, has spoken out about it, Mickey Donald, a victim of disability hate crime has shared his story, and we have also reported on new projects funded by the Police and Crime Commissioner.

Information on support for victims has also been made available.

While the focus of the week has been hate crime we are continuing to drive home the message that we will not accept any form of violent crime. Between Thursday 21 November 2013 and Thursday 28 November 2013 89 people were charged in relation to violent offences.
