Keeping your tent secure

Don't leave valuables inside your tent

Tents can be easily broken into as they generally have few security features. Please make an effort to take valuables with you when you leave your tent

Secure property you leave outside your tent

If you must keep items outside your tent because they cannot be stored elsewhere, such as bikes and furniture, consider securing them to stable objects, such as a tree.

If this is not practical, consider chaining them together to make them more difficult to steal.

Padlocks can draw attention to your tent

You might think it's a good idea to use a padlock on your tent zips, but this can draw more attention to your tent and give thieves the impression that you have valuables inside.

Use on-site lockers

If lockers are available at the festival site, knowing your valuables are safe inside will give you peace of mind.

Split cash and cards

Keep your cash and cards in two places on you, for example: one lot in your wallet and the other in a zipped pocket.

Keep your festival ticket safe

Tickets can be expensive. Keep it safe at all times

Personal safety

Report suspicious behaviour

When you arrive at the festival site, or ideally before you go, make sure you know how you can report any suspicious or criminal behaviour on site

Stick to main routes and well-lit areas

When it gets dark, try to use main thoroughfares and well-lit areas of the site and stay with your friends

Get to know your surroundings

When you arrive, make sure you know exactly where your camping area is and how to find it. Try to remember a landmark nearby or memorise the campsite's name. Check where the nearest first aid and fire safety points are

Know your limits

Remember, alcohol can impair your judgement. Drink in moderation and sip on non-alcoholic drinks in between drinks

Drugs

Possession of controlled drugs and supplying anyone else with drugs is illegal. You could be prosecuted

Keep an eye on your children

If your children are attending, make sure you know where they are at all times. In your group, decide on a rendezvous point at the start of the event in case you get separated
